Students show their support

By JESSICA BARNES

With the help of "bribery" in the form of chocolate, students have shown their support for Conestoga College's 30th birthday. The students also held the same idea to get their picture taken.

Along with their professor, Andy Scott, the group of students has been working together to raise money for the college's 30th birthday. The students also held the same idea to get their picture taken.

"I (Morgan-Jill) have to be one of the most people in the world who are not a chocolate lover," Scott-Rodot says. "But I'm a chocolate lover."

After being approached with the idea by Scott, who teaches a public relations and communications course, she decided to join the group. The students also held the same idea to get their picture taken.

Conestoga students on top of loans

College has the lowest student loan default rate in Ontario

By JESSICA BARNES

Conestoga is making up its own mind.

The Ontario Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities released its 2006 loan default report for 2006. Conestoga came in at No. 1 with the lowest default rate of all colleges in Ontario.

Conestoga students have shown their support for the college's 30th birthday. The students also held the same idea to get their picture taken.

The low default rate indicates students are a good value for their education and have high employment upon graduation.

The province colleges have default rates in the low 20 per cent range.

"The default rate speaks to the quality of the institution. It is the sum total of the people that make it up, students, faculty and staff. Everyone takes pride in Conestoga."

Scott-Rodot

The college's success in this regard is higher than the average of all colleges in Ontario.

"It's a group of people who are very dedicated to their work. They are very dedicated to their work."

Scott-Rodot, a student of about 300, says she has been working on the project for about a year. The students also held the same idea to get their picture taken.

The rate in the 2006 report reflected students who have not repaid an Ontario Student Loan by 2006-07 for loans that were made in 2005-06 and who defaulted on loan repayment after graduation in 2006.

The average default rate for the Ontario college system was 18.6 per cent. The other colleges in the province had default rates of 18.6 per cent.

The National Student Loan Service Centre (NSLSC) reports that the default rate for all colleges in Ontario was 18.6 per cent.

Residence gym really working out

By KATHY GARTNEY

Students at Conestoga are taking the word "gym" to the next level.

On March 4, students were notified to arrive at the new residence gym as part of the new gym rules. The gym is located in the new residence building, which is a part of the new residence building. The gym is located in the new residence building, which is a part of the new residence building.

Student residents will now be able to pump themselves up at the new gym area that opened March 4. The facility features two treadmills, two elliptical machines, a stationary bike, two rowing machines, and two page runs.

Exhibition showcases Waterloo's 150th anniversary

By JAMARITA SANCHEZ

From bellows and First World War trench coats to cameras and musical notation, items of historic interest on display at the exhibition "Waterloo 150" showcase the city's rich and varied past.

Waterloo is celebrating its 150th anniversary and is commemorating the Battle of Waterloo, which took place on June 18, 1815. The battle was a decisive victory for the British and their allies over the French.

The exhibition is a celebration of the city's rich and varied past. It features a wide range of items, from historical documents to modern-day artifacts.
